Baptism Termed Savior Proof

"The Baptism of Jesus and its attendant circumstances forcefully reveal Him to be the Savior sent from heaven," stated Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church Saturday, as he spoke on Matthew 3:13-17.

"Christ did not come to John the Baptist to receive baptism from him because He needed the remission of sins for Himself. This was done to fulfill all righteousness. It was necessary because Christ was taking the place of sinners, because He was fulfilling every detail of God's law and atoning for all sins as the Substitute of all mankind. In this way He was preparing a righteousness which penitent sinners could make their own through faith in Him." This showed that He was serving as the Savior sent by God.

"In addition," the pastor continued, "the Holy Spirit and the Father, the other two persons of the eternal Godhead, revealed themselves on this occasion as being with Christ in His redemptive work and approving of it. The Spirit of God descended upon Him in the form of a dove, and the Father spoke as a voice from heaven, saying, 'This is My beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.' This, too, proves Christ Jesus to be the divine Savior, in whom sinners can safely trust for a blessed eternity."

Clothing Campaign Held Success

The used clothing drive conducted during December at St. Paul's Lutheran church (Harold Brauer, pastor) met with a commendable response. From less than 75 homes representing membership of the church over 500 articles of wearable clothing were received, according to a tabulation. In the collection were a number of men's suits, women's suits, women's coats, and bedding materials.

The clothing was collected with the cooperation of the local Walther league society, the youth organization of the church, and was in charge of Ethel Mae Pasch. All clothing is to be distributed through the Lutheran commission for relief in Europe, and will be shipped soon.

It is felt that there are still many articles that can be turned in, and members of the church are encouraged to support the nation-wide victory clothing collection now in progress.

Pastor Speaks on Accepting Christ

"Christ proved Himself to be the omniscient Son of God to a faithful Israelite named Nathaniel," stated Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday as he spoke on John 1:43-51.

"When Philip was convinced that Christ was the true Son of God and Messiah, he told Nathaniel about his finding. But Nathaniel was hesitant and cautious about accepting his testimony. He was an earnest truth-seeker, as Christ Himself said, when He spoke of him: He, therefore, wanted to be certain before he made any admission or confession. But when Christ not only stated what kind of an Israelite he was, but also told him that he knew him before Philip had even spoken of him, then Nathaniel unhesitatingly confessed Him to be the Son of God and the King of Israel," the pastor continued.

"So today an earnest truth-seeker may be hesitant and cautious about accepting the testimony about Jesus Christ given by others. Yet such people can find Christ revealed as the Son of God and the true Redeemer in their Bibles. Especially in the gospel of St. Matthew does the holy writer emphasize that the happenings in the life of Jesus Christ were in direct fulfillment of Old Testament prophecies concerning the Messiah. The record of His many miracles also manifests Jesus Christ to be the true Son of God and Redeemer. Thus honest truth-seekers today can find the divinity and Messiahship of Christ revealed in the Word of God," the pastor concluded.

Rest for Troubled Soul Offered

"Rest for every troubled soul can be found in Jesus Christ, who is the Fountain of living water," stated Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran Church as he spoke on John 4:5-26.

"The redeeming love of the Savior yearns and longs for the salvation of every sinner, even of those whose past is shameful in the eyes of the world. Every one of them has an immortal soul that is precious in His sight. Christ offered 'living water' to the woman of Samaria who came to Jacob's well for ordinary water. And when He had stirred up a desire in her for this water of salvation, He proceeded to show her how sorely she needed His grace and salvation by revealing His knowledge of her soiled and sinful past. When she came to know Him as the promised Messiah, she went back to her fellow townsmen rejoicing."

"Just so the sinner who today has a shady and shameful past needs to learn that Christ is lovingly interested in his eternal welfare and must be shown his need of the grace and forgiveness which this savior has procured for all men; then, if he is drawn to Jesus Christ and trusts in Him, he will find that He is today also the Fountain of living water, springing up into everlasting life."

Salvation Plan Is Discussed

"Anyone who believes that Jesus Christ is the Savior of the whole world of sinful men will also reveal a loving attitude toward the people of every race and nation," stated Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday, as he spoke on John 4:31-42. "God's plan of salvation was framed to include the people of every color and nationality, for 'Go so loved the world that He gave His only-begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life.' The sacrifice of God's Son, Jesus Christ, is the atonement for the sins of all men, for 'Christ is the propitiation for our sins, and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world.' It is also God's desire that all men find forgiveness and everlasting life in Christ's atonement, for 'the Lord is not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.' In every way it should be plain that 'with God there is no respect of persons.' This world-view was taken by Jesus Christ."

"Christ was so carried away with the purpose of His coming into the world that He could forget physical hunger. He spoke of Gentiles coming to Him as a 'field white unto the harvest of souls.' He also reached out to save the Samaritans, even though they were not His nationality. We Christians of today need more of that spirit, and we will have it if we will first recognize Jesus Christ to be the 'Savior of the world,' and therefore, also our Savior for eternity."

"Service to Christ" Forms Subject

"Only service to Christ which grows out of worship of Christ as God and Savior is acceptable to Him," was the truth emphasized by Pastor Harold Brauer in his sermon in St. Paul's Lutheran church as he spoke on the text, Luke 10: 38-42.

"The Lord did not belittle the efforts of Martha to prepare a fine meal for Him in her desire to show Him the best hospitality. The reason for His gentle reprimand of her was to remind her that she was placing too much emphasis upon her service to Him while she was neglecting her worship of Him. In contrast, the Lord commended Mary for choosing the hearing of His word, while sitting at His feet, in preference to helping her sister with the duties of a hostess.

"The great lesson to be learned from this story is that worship of Jesus Christ as God and as Savior must always receive first place and consideration. Even service to Him and His church must take second place. Under what condemnation, then, must come a failure to worship and to serve the Heavenly Master? What kind of a reprimand would the Lord speak to those who never take time to worship Him and, consequently, never have time to serve Him?"

Purpose Seen in Every Sorrow

"The Lord has a loving purpose in every sorrow that He permits to come into the lives of His children," state Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday as he spoke on the text, John 11:20-27.

"In the case of Martha the Lord Jesus Christ wanted to teach her a humble submission to His will rather than prescribe to Him the time and manner that He ought to help. He also wanted to develop in her a firmer trust in His promise to help, so that she would rely upon His power and promise even though she could not at the time see or understand how His promise could or would be fulfilled.

He, finally, also wanted to lead her to more complete conviction about His own person and power, so that she would not merely regard Him as a loving friend whose intercession God would hear and heed, but as the very Son of God who has all power in Himself and as the Savior from sin and death, through faith in whom every one might experience a blessed death and a glorious resurrection to everlasting life."

"In the case of His Christians today the same almighty and gracious Lord Jesus Christ has only purposes of love when He permits sorrow and need to come into their homes. While His purpose may not be the same in every case as it was with Martha, nevertheless, His promise is that 'all things must work together for good to them that love God.' If Christians today would humbly try to understand the Lord's loving purpose for them; He would grant them at least a partial knowledge and understanding of His benevolent aim."

Service First in Mind of Christ

"Service was uppermost in the mind of Christ, because He Himself served unto death and also taught His followers to render unselfish service." That was the truth upon which Pastor Harold Brauer spoke in St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday, using as his text Mark 10:32-45.

"The purpose of Christ's whole life is to minister or serve. This was proven by the fact that He always went about doing good, healing the infirm, feeding the hungry, and comforting the sorrowing. But His service reached its climax in the giving of His life as a ransom for the whole race of sinful men. By His suffering and death Jesus Christ paid for the release of every sinner from the eternal punishment of sin. Surely, there is no greater service than laying down one's life for the blessedness of all men."

"The followers of Christ should follow His example. They should show that they believe in His redemption by living lives of humble and unselfish service. Instead of seeking the empty honor and praise of the world, they should look for opportunities to serve, for in the Savior's kingdom humble service is regarded as the greatest. Such service should be directed toward the physical well-being of fellow-men, such as can be done through the American Red Cross.

"The Christian's service should, however, be most concerned with

Thief Makes Church Raid

Apparently the prowler did not wait to hear the sermon of the Rev. Harold Brauer Sunday morning, or he probably would not have stooped to pilfering the purses of two young women attending the St. Paul's Lutheran church service, Twenty-eighth and Quincy.

About the time Mr. Brauer was discussing "The Cross for Victory Over a Guilty Conscience," someone entered the building through the north basement door and took $20, a car key and a white gold bracelet from the purse belonging to Jo Barbara Wall of 2429 Monroe.

He took a $20 bill, $1 bill and about $2 in small change from the purse of Juliene Werner, 336 Twenty-seventh.

But to stoop even lower he made off with a number of envelopes containing birthday offerings and about $3 from a collection jar.

A young man was reported to have been seen at the church door just before the pilfering.

Pastor Points to Cause for Joy

"The Christian's cause for highest joy is not what he does in and for Christ's kingdom, but what God has done and is doing for him, resulting in his name being written in heaven," stated Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday as he spoke on the text, Luke 10:17-20.

"Followers of Christ are to imitate the example of the seventy disciples from He sent out as His missionaries, striving to lead others to the salvation which He has won for all men. When Christians today meet with success in these efforts, they, too, are to rejoice over this.

"Yet there is a danger in such joy over success. There is danger that such Christians will think too much of their accomplishments and will fail to keep in mind that the Lord does the converting through His word and spirit. Or there is the danger that they will consider themselves better than other Christians who have not had the same success.

"Rather than rejoice over this, Christians are to find their cause for highest joy in the fact that their names are written in heaven. Their greatest happiness is to be found in the assurance that they are true children of God through faith in Jesus Christ. This kind of happiness will reach its fullness and climax in eternal life."

3-18-46

Lord's Patience Held Marvelous

"The patience of our Lord and Savior is marvelous," declared Pastor Harold Brauer in his sermon on Sunday in St. Paul's Lutheran church, as he spoke on Luke 9:51-56. "This patience is seen in His unwillingness to destroy those who reject Him and in His failure to punish His slow-learning disciples." The pastor added:

"When the Samaritans of a certain village not only refused Him ordinary hospitality, but rejected Him as the Messiah of the Jews, and two of His disciples suggested that they be destroyed by fire from heaven, the Lord Jesus Christ rebuked His disciples for their ill-conceived zeal, asking them to consider what spirit prompted them in their request. These disciples should have known that His was not a spirit of revenge, but a spirit of patient love; that 'He came not to destroy, but to save men's souls.'

"The fact that the Lord was not willing to destroy those who rejected Him shows that He was anxious to give them further opportunities to accept His grace and love. The fact that He did not punish His disciples for their suggestion shows that He still was endeavoring to teach them His principles and spirit in all patience.

"The same marvelous patience the Lord still reveals today. Even though there are seventy-four million people in our country who will not profess allegiance to His name the Lord still blesses our nation and continues to have His gospel of forgiveness and love proclaimed, so that more might come to know His grace in Christ Jesus. Even though His professing disciples are often slow in learning and practicing the things that are in keeping with His spirit of patient love, the Lord still continues love, the Lord still continues His efforts to teach and train them. How great His spirit of patience is!"

Faith Is Essential, Pastor Declares

"Under the figure of Himself as the bread of life, Jesus Christ teaches that only faith in Him saves," stated Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church, as he spoke on the text, John 6: 47-57.

"At the beginning of this section the Savior solemnly states: 'He that believeth on Me hath everlasting life.' He, the truth Himself, promises the blessed life that begins here and continues into eternity to all those who believe in Him. Knowing who it is that makes this statement, it should not be difficult to believe it."

"To illustrate this truth Christ speaks of Himself as the bread of life, using that figure because this discourse was occasioned by the feeding of the five thousand with five barley loaves and two fishes, and because of the Jews' demand that He give them a sign conforming to that of the manna which their fathers ate in the desert."

Honor to Savior Sermon Topic

"Jesus Christ deserves to be honored for His suffering and death by those who love Him and put their trust in Him," stated Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church Sunday, as he spoke on the text, John 12: 1-8.

"This incident of Mary's anointing Jesus took place less than a week before the Savior's final suffering began, and was intended, as the Lord revealed, as an honor to Him previous to His burial. Mary was prompted to this act by a humble and grateful love to Christ for His deep humiliation in her behalf and for all sinners. The Lord had undoubtedly revealed to her too that He would soon suffer and die, and her knowledge of Old Testament prophecies told her why this would take place. Since Jesus was about to give His life for her, Mary wanted to honor Him with her adoration and love while she still could.

"Today Christians cannot honor Christ's person in the same way that Mary did, but they can glorify His name by worshiping Him in humble and grateful adoration in church services. And how can any one who really appreciates the Savior's sacrifice to atone for his sins fail to worship Jesus Christ? Today Christians can also honor the Savior for His passion with gifts that flow from love. Such gifts can be directed toward the work of His church on earth, toward the beautification of His house, and to relieve the needs of the poor. When such gifts are prompted by love for Him who loved us unto death, then they are regarded as being done unto Him. May more of such honoring love be found in our world among the Christians of today."

Easter Joy Tied To Resurrection

"Only those who believe the proven fact of Christ's resurrection find real joy and happiness in the Easter message," was the essence of the sermon delivered in St. Paul's Lutheran church by the Rev. Harold Brauer, pastor, in both services yesterday.

"The fact of Christ's resurrection is too well confirmed for it to be successfully contradicted," he declared. "The Lord's enemies tried desperately to prevent the resurrection, and after it had taken place they tried just as desperately to prevent the truth from being spread among the Jews by bringing the soldiers who guarded the grave to spread the report that the disciples of Jesus stole His body while they slept. But this effort was futile. Witnesses by the hundreds saw the risen Lord and could not be silenced in their report of the event. Certainly, a study of the facts and evidence presented in the Bible shows that Christ is risen.

"In this fact only a Christian will find joy. The Lord's enemies did not rejoice over it. Neither did the Roman soldiers who had guarded the grave. But the women and the other disciples of the Lord rejoiced. For it meant to them that His sacrifice for sin was acceptable to the Father in Heaven, that they really and truly had the forgiveness of sins through His name, and that they, too, would finally rise from the dead to enter into the glory of eternal life. For 'Christ was delivered for our offenses, but was raised again for our justification.' And in this joy and conviction the Lord's disciples set out to share their assurance of forgiveness and everlasting life with others. May the truthfulness of the Easter message produce the same results today."

Bible, Life's Anchor Sunday Sermon Says

"The Word of God or the Bible has the solution to every spiritual problem that men may have," stated Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church, Sunday as he spoke on "The Importance of God's Word for Our Life."

"This Word of God," he also stated, "is an anchor and support when we must face the storms of life. When we meet with perplexing problems and difficulties, then were it not for God's loving invitation to call upon Him in the day of trouble and for His gracious promises to hear our prayers and to help, we would be driven to despair and swept into destruction."

"Finally, the Word of God may be called also a lamp unto our feet," the pastor concluded. "From its holy pages we can learn all that we need to know for a happy life from the cradle to the grave and for a blessed eternity. The Bible teaches us how to live to please God and at the same time to enjoy this life most. It also shows us how to die calmly and fearlessly, since it offers forgiveness and everlasting life to all who believe in the redemptive work of God's Son, Jesus Christ. Such a blessed book certainly deserves more diligent study and wider distribution."

Pastor Speaks on Good Shepherd

"Christ's claim of being the Good Shepherd is substantiated by every comparison with an oriental shepherd's relation to his flock," stated Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church on Sunday as he spoke on John 10: 1-11.

"His claim is proven by the fact that Jesus Christ came to His flock in the way that God had appointed. Every Old Testament prophecy concerning the Messiah's coming and work was fulfilled in Him. Besides, He was recognized as such and followed by His true sheep. Just as sheep recognize their shepherd by their voices, so the message which Christ proclaimed and the miracles which He wrought convinced the faithful in Israel that He was the true Shepherd.

"Christ also calls Himself the door to the sheepfold, or the one by whom entrance is gained. Anyone else claiming such an honor for himself is called a thief and a robber. Those who look to Christ as the way by which they can enter the fold of God's children

Sermon Delivered On Church Growth

"God's kingdom will keep on growing in numbers and in influence until the end of time, in spite of efforts to prevent it or the indifference of its citizens," stated Pastor Harold Brauer in St. Paul's Lutheran church, as he spoke on the text: Matthew 13: 31-33.

"The kingdom of God or of heaven is the same as the church of God on earth, which is not limited to any area or country, and which is not to be identified with any specific Christian denomination. It is the whole number of believers in Jesus Christ, no matter where they live, what is the color of their skin, or to what Christian denomination they belong."

"This kingdom of God, while invisible to the human eye because faith cannot be seen, will grow like a mustard seed. It will grow gradually but to large proportions, as it has from the time of Christ to the present day. And just as it has grown in numbers up to the present, so it will continue to grow in spite of efforts to prevent it."
